

Parents and Teachers!

Challenge your elementary student to read books all summer long! Students can track their reading by entering info online each time they finish a book OR if they are lacking internet access, can track their reading on a paper reading log and have it recorded later online. All they need to record is what grade they will be in this coming school year AND the title and author of the book they read. Feel free to go to SlaytheSlide.com/elementary-challenge.html to print out a paper copy as needed. Need a Spanish copy of the flyer? It's also available on that page.

Students! We challenge you to read as many books as you can this summer. Which grade level in YOUR SCHOOL will read the most books? See if you can help pass the number of books read by others grades in your school. When school opens in September, listen for your school librarian to announce which GRADE LEVEL read the most books this summer and they will be rewarded with a celebration!
